MOVIE CRAFTSMEN CALL OFF STRIKE

Accept Producers' Offer to Negotiate While at Work,

It was announced here by the n tional association of the motion picture industry last Saturday night that the strike of "movie" craftsmen in the laboratories of picture studies has been called off following a mass meeting at Fort Lee, N. J., where most of the screen industry affected is located.

The strikers came to the decision to return to work and negotiate with the producers while in their employ. The capitulation of the union men is reowners.

The following statement was made by the national association of the mo tion picture industry:
"For two weeks the producers have been ready and waiting to receive a reply to their offer to meet the union if the strike was called off. This offer was held open until last night. "At a meeting yesterday it was de-cided to rescind the strike order and the employees accordingly will return to work on Monday."

SELWYNS ANNOUNCE SEASON'S NEW PLAYS

Oliver Morosco Also Makes Known Early Productions.

The Selwyns, having decided to nam their second new playhouse adjoining their Times Square Theatre in West Forty-second street the Apollo, will follow the current fashion and plunge into the production of a revue each summer at this house. It will be opened in October with a musical production. The Times Square is scheduled to be gar Selwyn. Some of the other attractions listed under Selwyn control the season are the following: Frank Tinney in "Tickle Me," at the Selwyn "Tickle Me, Tickle Me, Tickl in "Tickle Me," at the Selwyn Theatre Leo Carrillo in "The Threador," a new romantic comedy; Adolph Klauber's "Nightie Night," and his new production "Scrambled Wives," which opens at the Fulton Theatre early in August; George V. Hobart's new play, entitled "Sonny," with Miss Emma Dunn, Miss Lillian Lorraine and Ralph Morgan the featured players. Later in the seaso Miss Margaret Lawrence will appear in a new comedy by Roi Cooper Megrue, and Allan Dinehart will be seen in "Edgar Allan Poe," a new play by Samael Shipman, of which the poet is the central figure.

Oliver Morosco also comes through with a brand new set of plans for this season that includes the opening of the Morosco Theatre on August 23 with the roduction by Wagenhals and Kemper "The Bat," written by Mary Roberts Rinchart and Avery Hopwood. Among the early Morosco productions slated for New York is "The Humming Bird," from the pen of Maude Fulton, who wrote "The Brat." This piece will open at LOST-Male police deg. last Friday after the Little Theatre early in September noon: liberal reward. H. GANT, Great Neck, L. I. Cousin of David Belasco Here.

Miss Viola Belasco, 19 years of age, of London, England, a member of the Eng-lish branch of the Belasco family, has ust arrived in New York, to appear as the principal dancer in "Chu Chin Chow," nder contract with F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest. Miss Belasco's father. Smanuel Belasco, was a first cousin of David Belasco, the producer, of New York. She went on the stage in London a year ago in "Chu Clim Chow." She and her mother called on David Belasco when he visited London. At the same she met Mr. Gest, who engaged he to come to America.

Ask Aid for Soldlers.

An appeal is being made to the publi to contribute to the fund for the Chapin Farm Convalescent Camp for Soldiers at Towners, N. Y., which is under the management of Miss Elizabeth B. Dex-ter. There are more than four hundred gassed and shell shocked men waiting admission to the camp. There is room for all of them if the public will assist in conveying them there and in helping to support them during their convalescence. One portable house, which will provide room for ten men, and a sum of $1 000 for its unkeep, have already bee received. There also has been a gift of 300 hair mattresses, which are ready for new tents. Checks may be made payable to Miss Dexter.

POLICE CHIEF FOLEY DIES.

Earned and Held Title of "Square Deal Jerry." Jeremiah C. Foley, chief of police of Mount Vernon for more than a quarter of a century, died Friday night in his home. For a year he had suffered from a complication of diseases, and in March was compelled to go to a hospital Mr.

In 1892 he was made chief, the force at the time consisting of five patrolmen With the title "chief" came the nickname "Square Deal Jerry," and he held it throughout his service.

Early in the year a movement to our him from office was begun, and it is be leved that worry caused by it aggra vated his illness. The movement failed nd his friends gave him a testimonia construction work in the devastated dinner which practically every business area, and will remain at Eagle Rook, man in Mount Version attended.

FALK.—In loving memory of our dear father, Isaac L., died August 1, 1856.

HAMMERSTEIN.—August 1, 1929. In loving memory of my dear husband, Occar Hammerstein, who laid his all upon the altar of operatic art; who fought single handed against great odds—was backed only by his own creative brain and effort, and who died broken bearted, the immediate cause of his death being that, on account of his property being taken unjustly from him and being unable to protect the mortgage which would become due at the Manhaitan Opera House this fall, he saw no hope of financing his future operatic plans for the coming year, which work he had been impatiently waiting for ten long years. Words are inadequate to express how much I miss him, but the Great Director of the Universe has called Oscar Hammerstein to a pew world.

HAMMERSTEIN.—In perpetual memory of my beloved father, Oscar Hammerstein, who died August 1, 1919.

HAMMERSTEIN.—In reverence to my late employer, occar Hammerstein, who passed away August 1, 1919, in the midst of his future operatic soal.
